

On May 12, 2014 USDOL released updates to the edit check documentation for the WIASRD file (Workforce Investment Act data). As mentioned in the paragraph posted to the ETA website as seen below, the revised edit check documentation is active in EDRVS as of the date of the announcement posting.

FutureWork Systems has reviewed this documentation and has updated its PM Verify application for validating WIASRD data. As part of the review process, the FutureWork's data team updated the document to flag the changes made to the specification. This update to the document allowed the team to better isolate the new changes found within the documentation. The FutureWork's modified version of the documentation to highlight the new changes to the WIASRD specification can be found at:

As states continue to report Workforce Investment Act data through the Enterprise Data Reporting and Validation System (E-DRVS), updates to the edit check documentation HERE have been made, and continue to be made. The revised edit check and layout specifications are accurate within E-DRVS as of the date posted. However, please be aware that additional revisions have already developed, but have not yet been incorporated into the E-DRVS. Subsequent updates to the edit check specifications will also be posted on this page.
